A job is more than just a job. It should be the right fit for you, challenge you, and offer fair compensation. That's exactly what we believe at PAMEC. Since 1984, we've been connecting talented professionals with companies where they can truly thrive. When you love your job, we know we've done ours right.

For our renowned client, an innovative company, we are looking for a Electronics Engineer (gn) – Research & Development

What Your Day-to-Day Work Will Look Like

- Validate and optimize motor control electronics for innovative, next-generation power tools
- Plan, define, and execute comprehensive testing activities throughout all product development phases – from initial concept to series production
- Work closely with cross-functional teams of electronics, software, and motor experts to develop solutions for complex technical challenges
- Support the design and implementation of robust, high-performance electronic systems that meet demanding product requirements

What Makes You a Great Fit for This Role

- Degree in Electronics Engineering, Electrical Engineering, or a comparable technical qualification (e.g., certified technician)
- Initial experience in the design, development, and commissioning of electronic systems, ideally in the field of power electronics and motor drives (e.g., brushed and brushless DC or AC motor applications)
- Solid theoretical understanding of electronic circuits and their practical application
- Hands-on experience with laboratory equipment, including power supplies, oscilloscopes, and other measurement instruments
- Knowledge of measurement techniques, validation processes, and test methodologies

These Are Your Benefits

- Unbefristete Festanstellung mit Übernahmeoption im Partnerunternehmen
- Vergütung nach GVP-Tarifvertrag inkl. ggf. Erfahrungszulagen, Urlaubs-/Weihnachtsgeld, betriebliche Altersvorsorge
- Prämienzahlung "Mitarbeiter werben Mitarbeiter" bis zu 400 €
- Urlaubsanträge/Zeitnachweise via App, Mitarbeiterrabatte für Onlineshops, kostenlose UVEX-Sicherheitsschuhe
